

Teen Angels

The teenage years are tough for everybody, but they are especially difficult for teens who are homeless.

The mission of Teen Angels is to help homeless and otherwise struggling students have happy and successful educational experiences through the use of community resources.

In 2007 Renee Hembree formed Teen Angels, a non-profit based in the North Myrtle High School attendance area, with the goal of helping homeless teens thrive and complete their education. Teen Angels does not accept government funding and relies exclusively on the community to help our teens. Since it was formed, Teen Angels has helped hundreds of teenagers have a happier, healthier, more normal high school experience. It has changed lives for the better.
